

about our pellets

PIB extra wood pellets are wood pellets of the highest quality with an extremely low moisture and ash content. They have a light color because they are made of pure wood without bark and do not contain any chemical impurities.

Today one of the most modern forms of heating, they are made exclusively of wood, with no added impurities and are a standardized form of biomass. Wood pellets are a cheaper heating solution compared to heating oil. Wood pellets are suitable for pellet stoves and boilers or for combined pellet stoves and firewood that have a specially installed pellet burner for this purpose.
